NO. 7.

ENFORCE THEM.

The GAZETTE yesterday contained the full text of the laws adopted on Monday for the government of the new town of Reno. Others will be added as experience demonstrates the necessity. The people should remember, however, that many things besides laws are essential to keep up an orderly and efficient government. If a careless spirit pervades the community, if juries are too easy with culprits, if citizens hesitate to complain against nuisances, there is nothing in the code to execute itself, and there is no encouragement for the officers to maintain discipline if they meet with a cool support or none at all. Every man should make it his business to see that the laws are obeyed, and where they are broken he should insist upon the officers enforcing them. He should be willing to act as juror, witness or complainant every day in the week if it is necessary to secure the safety of property from fire, or theft, and the health of the town from dirt and decaying matter. There is no use of trying to prevent men's feelings from being hurt if they are outside the law. The best way is to let them know once for all that the community is against them and put them right into the line no matter what they think of it or who they are.

A BIG SURPRISE.

At 10 o'clock last night Col. Fair and all the bankers and brokers in Virginia City went to bed with such dispatches as "Victory is assured—Constitution defeated," "all safe," etc. Suddenly the returns began to chop, county after county rolled in, all on the affirmative side, and San Francisco's ten thousand majority kept dropping. Gamblers telegraphed back and forth at 8 o'clock they said, "But on 8000 majority in this city." At 10 it was down to more than 5000 majority in San Francisco, and at midnight it was only 3000. At daylight this morning it was conceded that the new constitution was carried by a majority of between 5000 and 8000. We can imagine the drop which the bankers and corporationists must have felt inside when they heard the news, probably just as they were raising their morning's morning to their lips. Some of them must feel very keenly disappointed, for they are positive that it will do them harm. We hope their fears are overdrawn and that the prospects are better than most believe.

THE OREGON RAILROAD.

The GAZETTE to-day has a little item of news which may be very important to this state. It is that a company has incorporated for the purpose of building a railroad from Winnemucca to Oregon. If this means business, Reno should at once take steps to show this new organization that a road would do a better business if it came here than it would to strike the overland further east. It would get a great deal of California business this way, both in freight, passengers and mails. The route would be far better than either the water or stage routes. From Surprise valley to Astoria the same line would be used in either case, and from there to Reno would be as near and as easily built as the other, with a far better chance for local business. If some enterprising citizen, who has plenty of leisure, were to take the matter in hand, he might get a monument, and a two stick notice in the GAZETTE when he dies.

There is something out of trim in the mails between San Francisco and Nevada. We have tried our best to get the GAZETTE to several of our subscribers who made visits to Sacramento and San Francisco, and they reached them very irregularly. They were mailed carefully, directed plainly, and doubtless left here regularly, but somewhere on the way misfortune befell them and they were lost, delayed or thrown away.

THE INFLATION PARTY.

We of the far west have felt the influence of the greenback craze so little that we underestimate its danger to the country. It is by no means extinct, but is organized and powerful and as mischievous as ever, as will be seen by the following remarks of General Sam Cary, made in an interview with a Cincinnati Commercial reporter: Mr. Cary—The resumption is obtained is a sham, a miserable pretense. The secretary of the treasury has been compelled to violate plain statutes to accomplish his act of folly. The provision of the law creating greenbacks, which is upon the back of every one of them, provides that they shall not be received for custom duties. We greenbackers have insisted that a law making them receivable for custom duties would have brought them up to par with coin ten years ago, and saved the country from the bitter experience of all these years. Now, in defiance of law, Sherman finds it necessary to carry out his scheme to receive these notes for custom duties. Again, the coin obtained from customs is appropriated by law to pay the coin interest of the public debt, yet the coupons on the bonds are paid now only in greenbacks, unless sent to New York for coin.

The maintaining of resumption depends upon several contingencies. If the balance of trade continues in our favor, bringing coin from foreign countries, and the secretary of the treasury can sell bonds fast enough to keep up his supply for resumption purposes, he will maintain it for some time. But whenever coin is in demand (and all history shows that a paper money redeemable in coin will sooner or later be presented for redemption), then will come the great crash ever witnessed in this country. It is confidence and not coin that floats premises to pay.

As to the revival of business, I cannot see how this is to be brought about by resumption. I see it stated that there are already indications of a general revival of trade. This I believe to be a falsehood uttered on purpose to deceive the people and give them false hopes. With some slight exceptions business was never as dead as at this hour. A large majority of business men are drawing upon their capital to live and meet expenses. Bankruptcy is still staring thousands in the face. Persons who have a little surplus money are withdrawing it from the banks, not to invest in productive business enterprises, but to buy government bonds. If business was promising, forty millions would not be invested in one week in four per cent. bonds. I want no better evidence than this, that labor must continue unemployed, and trade and business languish.

Reporter—Then you do not believe that your greenback party's mission is ended, and that resumption kills it? Mr. Cary—By no means. Every thing at present conspires to make our party stronger than ever. Even now the greenback is preferred to gold, and it always will be if it has a fair chance. This rag money, based upon the resources and credit of this great nation, will always be the equivalent of coin, and be preferred by the people. Let the metals be relegated to their legitimate functions—be used only as commodities in settling balances of foreign trade; give us an ample supply (not an inflation) of greenbacks; commence paying off instead of increasing the interest-bearing debt; wipe out all bank issues of currency, and business prosperity will come to stay. I tell you the Greenback party will not accomplish its mission until these results are obtained.

Reporter—How about an affiliation of your party with the Democratic party in the coming election?

Mr. Cary—That will depend upon the Democrats and not upon the Greenbackers. If we capitulate, the National party will dictate the terms. So far as I am concerned—and I cannot vouch for others—I do not care a fig about any mere political organization. If the Democratic party will fairly and boldly adopt our platform of principles, and commit their organization to secure their enforcement, we can unite; otherwise we will remain as we are until we disintegrate both the old political organizations.

The long editorials, which the editors of anti-new constitution California papers have been preparing for weeks, showing the causes that operated to defeat the new constitution and why it ought to have been defeated, have been laid mournfully in the newspaper vault—the waste basket—and their places filled with the "Southern exodus," "war in Africa," etc.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The GAZETTE frequently predicted that the course of the opponents of the new constitution would produce a reaction in its favor which would float it in if it should be in the full of its force on the 7th of May. The fight was bitter and extreme on both sides and fought out with very little regard to the truth or right. The day the convention adjourned it would have carried the state by an enormous majority, but a change set in which would have defeated it, if it had come at the right time, but it did not last. The simple truth would have been a more effective weapon on the side of the capitalist; but they did not stop there. Everything was twisted and exaggerated to suit their side of the story. There were hosts of good men voted in favor who would not have done so if their judgment had been convinced. The plain unstrained truth is the strongest weapon a man or a newspaper ever used in politics or business.

Subsidiary silver coin is nearly at par with gold, and the silver bill men say Jones did it. The causes operating to bring it to par are thus spoken of in the Bulletin:

The reduction in the discount is not traceable to any appreciation in the value of silver in the markets of the world. The last quotations were 50½d. the ounce, while the par of silver with gold is 60½d. the ounce. The real causes are that the shower of silver from abroad, which was apprehended on the resumption of specie payments, has come to an end, and has not been large enough to produce bad effects, and that the wants of the country for silver change are increasing to such an extent that the east is absorbing the surplus which was heretofore maintained here. The strong probability of the passage by congress of the bill increasing the legal tender function of subsidiary silver and providing for its redemption in paper or gold at the sub-treasuries in sums of $20 may also set down as a factor in the appreciation of these coins.

It is likely that southern bulldozing by either party has seen its best days. A new, industrious population is gradually suppressing the Bourbons and carpet-baggers. A Mr. Atkinson says that he saw plainly, while in the south, that the recent show in congress was "the last gasp of a dead past. The 'solid South,' so called, is honeycombed by forces that are disintegrating and reconstructing it. The pendulum swung too far one way and put dishonest men in power in many states by means of ignorant ballots; now it has swung too far the other, and has sent to Washington men who think they are representative men, but they are only the galvanized corpses of a dead past, and they are hanging themselves with their own ropes and digging their own graves."

The New York World says of the effect of the new constitution:

Corporations will remove their offices to Nevada or Oregon. This means of course a fatal blow at the real estate business of San Francisco.

We would of course like to see Reno made the headquarters for as many mining companies and insurance companies as we can get, and if any overtures are made that way by the officers all the pains possible should be taken to forward the matter. We could as a town afford to donate lots and build offices for any company that would come in. If the ball once gets a rolling Reno will not only get a good many outside mining offices, but some from the Comstock.

The Carson Appeal of yesterday makes this town-ton news proclamation:

The wires late last night wailed the cheering and congratulatory tidings across the breadth and width of the American continent that the old new constitution for California had been defeated. It is a glorious victory for those who are interested in the continued prosperity of the golden state, and it is also a just and emphatic rebuke to the hoodlum and communistic element of that commonwealth. It will teach them that their will is not and never will be the law so long as good men go to the polls.

The "tidings" probably came via Crystal Peak.

It is settled that the new constitution will cause a good many foreign companies to withdraw from California. The insurance agents for several large companies propose to move into Nevada and draw up all policies here. The mining companies who can do so will also doubtless incorporate under the laws of this State, the same as the Yellow Jacket is now, and have the offices of their secretaries, and perhaps presidents here. If they incorporate in San Francisco the directors will be held personally liable for all the acts of the companies.

The Pennsylvania legislature has just passed a bill by which a man over sixteen, not a cripple or deaf and dumb, who asks for alms is classed a tramp, and is made liable to arrest for misdemeanor, and on conviction may be sent to prison for a year. If he enters a house without permission of the owner he may be convicted of a felony, and be sent to the state penitentiary for three years. With tramps on one side, corporations on the other, which do as the Eureka road did with Fisk, and such laws between, we will soon have the commune.

"Authentic information is to the effect that General Grant will reach the United States about the latter part of October, or probably later if he can arrange it. After a short stay here he will make a tour of the south and visit the scenes of his military achievements in the late rebellion. Then he will return to Philadelphia, where he will make his residence."—Philadelphia Record.

That is a nice little programme and will manufacture seventy-five dollars worth of Grant sentiment.

The next move will be to get the courts to declare that the law calling the constitutional convention or the proclamation for the election, or the ballots, or something else is constitutional. Anything to beat it, will be the cry.

The next move will be to get the courts to declare that the law calling the constitutional convention or the proclamation for the election or the ballots or something else is unconstitutional. Anything to beat it will be the cry.

The Bodie Standard says: "Vote early, vote often, vote late to defeat the infamous new constitution." In such times as these, when men traffic in votes as they do in shoe pegs, we cannot allow such advice, even in jest to pass without a mild reproof.

Enormous sums of money were lost and won on the election. The odds were in favor of the old constitution.

The Nevada Herald has entered upon its second year. It is a first rate paper to have no opinions, and gives a good resume of the local news of its section. The GAZETTE wishes it well.

California will either have the cattle plague, or small pox, the walking fever or Sergeant Bates for the immense amount of lies told in the late canvass.

Eureka feels very big since it got to be a town. The Leader thinks the tar bucket ought to answer for Reno without any laws.

Fred Hart, late of the Reese River Revereille, has bought an interest in the San Francisco Stock Report.

The races at Rome were very fine last month. Not between the athletes but between the horses.

How those straws didn't show which way the wind blew.

W. H. Vanderbilt's income is said to be $1000 an hour.

TRUCKEE ITEMS.

[From the Republican of To-day.]

The freight travel to Jamison and the Plumas Eureka mine this year will exceed six hundred tons. Mr. Wm. Ford of Jamison City has obtained the contract for forwarding this freight, and is expected to begin in a few days. Much of this trade formerly went around by Marysville. This is the first season that it has come to Truckee.

A. J. Bayley, proprietor of the Grand Central hotel, at Lake Tahoe, will be up about the last of the month to arrange for the accommodation of Tahoe tourists.

Col. Clarke Crocker, the leading business manager of the firm of Sisson, Wallace & Co., is in town.

Farver, and they will keep beer, cigars, liquors, etc., at lowest prices. Both gentlemen are very popular, and we commend them to the Reno boys as worthy of liberal patronage. When Truckeeites visit Reno they must not forget the Boca Beer saloon.

Important If True.

May 3d is the anniversary of the "invention of the cross." This is a festival instituted in honor of the finding of the cross A.D. 323 by the Empress Helena, mother of Constantine. The story is related by Socrates and other philosophers of his time. When Helena visited the scenes about Jerusalem, it is said that every trace of the great events which hallowed the environs had been obliterated by the heathen, and a temple of Venus stood upon Mount Calvary; but a Jew who had treasured up what traditions he could gather pointed out the probable place of Christ's sepulchre. The spot being excavated, three crosses were discovered and the title which that of Jesus bore was found lying by itself. A church was built over the spot.

TAR AS A PEACE MAKER.

It is considered by most people to be unpardonable for a community to go outside the courts to protect itself from outrage or to punish its offenders. So far as punishments go, we concur heartily and entirely, and are very loth to dissent from the other sentiment on any account, still we are inclined to believe that there may be times when it is impossible to cover the ground by law, when the morals and property of the town are exposed to the attacks of bad and reckless men, who escape more through faulty laws than lack of guilt. We do not pretend to sit in judgement on the case which happened last night. We have given all the information we could gather on the subject, and so far as the evidence is in, the young man seems to have been a fair representative of a class which has lived too long in Reno. There is no one who would ask a community to tolerate such performances as have been going on for three months in and around his cabin. We are told that he has indulged in the vilest and most disgusting familiarities with squaws with the doors and windows of his shanty wide open, or at least uncurtained, and that, too, with families, many of them having children running about, living all around him. That he sold or gave away whiskey to the Indians is believed by everybody. To gather evidence sufficient to ensure a conviction on either of these charges might be difficult, notwithstanding the facts were notorious. To bring neighboring ladies into court to swear that they saw such things, would be distasteful to their friends, and the chances are, that when pinned down to day, date and particulars the lawyers would destroy the value of their evidence. We hope such proceedings are ended and that good will result. The gangs of toughs and loafers who hang around town might take the hint to the great benefit of Reno.

BETTER NOW THAN LATER.

From a philosophic standpoint it looks like a good thing that the new constitution came as it did, before the prejudices which come between the upper and lower classes of every country as it grows in population and its resources and natural wealth become absorbed by the more fortunate or grasping citizens, had crystallized and hardened into spark producing flint. Our people of every grade are so aggressive and determined, so proud, so tenacious of their privileges and rights, and withal so excitable that if this movement had been smothered and kept under for another quarter of a century, until the population of California had trebled and the poorer classes gained in numbers at the same time that they lost in standing and comfortable living, it might have burst forth with a fury that would have started the foundation of our government. As it is it gives the men an opportunity to learn their lesson of content at the best possible time for all concerned. By putting their own laws into force they will find, to their surprise, that there are natural laws above those made by the majority and when they have been well pinched they will be the best kind of citizens and their children after them. All human institution which spring up quickly disappear early, and this last development of caprice will soon vanish and with a peace and harmony in her people which could be gotten in no other way, California will enjoy a long prosperity.

THE NEATEST AND BEST.

The neat, stylish, and cheap awnings, which are so popular in San Francisco, would be very well adapted to the streets of Reno. A light frame securely fastened to the building, and covered with canvas of some color not inharmonious with the surroundings, would last a long time, and without costing any more, would be much more satisfactory than the cumbersome wooded frames and roofs, with heavy rolls of canvas resting on pillars at the edge of the sidewalk. A little forethought now will be a great benefit to the town. Burchard & McClelland, Gray & Isaacs, Abrahams Bros. & Co., and Davidson and Myers have the honor of being pioneers in the way of handsome awnings, and we hope they will have plenty of imitators.

Impecunious acquaintances and poor relations may be out very short.—N. Y. Graphic.

Yes, at the pockets.

A SCALDING

If a man wanted to paint a house he would be careful to put nothing in which would prevent the wood from absorbing the mixture. He would want no disturbing element in his combination anywhere, either in preparing the paint or in applying it. The chances are a hundred to one that that same man would be utterly reckless of what food he took and how he took it. He would be almost certain to mix things in his diet which instead of uniting with the juices of the stomach would ferment and turn sour and make him miserable, and when dissolved into blood feeding kyle it would be of such a character that the glands which acts as the wood does to the paint, would not absorb it. There are different glands for different kinds of food, for instance only one very small one has an affinity for butter so that "short" pie crusts, biscuits and suchlike, find no place to go even when they happen to get into a stomach sufficiently robust to digest them. The cooking of the nineteenth century is one of the greatest crimes of the earth. Children are born with weak organs and rendered miserable, men die before their time, and women groan their whole lives through from the effect of the deadly pie crust, the well tanned steak, the fermenting hot bread and the poisonous mixture, milk and coffee which are forced upon them by custom. If everybody had killed themselves at thirty-five for the last hundred years it seems as if it would be impossible to break up the custom. Men of the most foolish, most injurious, most unnecessary and disagreeable things just because they have always seen them done and think they are good enough.

A COMSTOCK HUMORIST.

This must have gotten out of the funny column and fallen in among the editorials of the Enterprise by a mistake in the make up:

If the United States government is building a single ship the people do not know it, and yet our nation is liable to become involved in a war with some great maritime power at any moment. The policy which keeps our navy a burlesque among nations, and which fails to do anything to re-establish the former position of our merchant ships on the world's seas, is as unaccountable as it is stupid.

We are sorry we cannot give the name of the wit who wrote that. The joke about foreign wars is exquisite, and the "burlesque navy" is real cute. Our government could re-establish the former position of our merchant ships on the world's seas by taxing us inland critters eighteen or twenty millions a year, while a useless navy could be built and maintained for twice that. The humor is so gentle and "lamb-like," the points at once so ridiculous and so delicately shaded, and withal so owl-like in their solemnity, that we must believe that Nevada is again coming to the front with the funniest man in the world, as it did with Mark Twain.

"SAGEBRUSH LEAVES."

We have received the prospectus of Henry R. Mighels' new book, "Sagebrush Leaves," now in press in San Francisco. Mr. Mighels is a chaste and elegant writer, blending together wit and sentiment, humor and pathos in such a charming way that the gleaner in the fields of literature cannot fail to be delighted. The work is a compilation of the stray and delightfully interesting fragments that have appeared in the Carson Appeal from time to time. They are an unique collection, partaking somewhat of the dilettante, but are babbings from a well of English "pure and undefiled." We are satisfied that no one will have cause to regret three dollars, the subscription price, paid for a copy of "Sagebrush Leaves."

The coming political campaign in California promises to be a general knock down and drag out affair. The Republican papers are calling upon the party to make a straight out party fight. The Democratic journals are shouting out to the "war horses" that they must rally. The Chronicle is trying to organize a constitution party, and Dennis Kearney, from his stand on the sand lot, is telling the working-men that they must steer clear of the Republicans, Democrats, Chronicle, new constitution and all, and go it alone.

In our article on the Crown Prince mine yesterday we were made to say the clay wall is 3 feet thick instead of 3 inches, and that streaks of sulphur crosses the face of the drift at an angle of 100 instead of 10 degrees.

MISREPRESENTATION.

In an editorial the other day the Enterprise said: "Two newspapers last winter put an effectual stop to railroad building in this state, and if anything can be judged from the present course of these and other journals throughout the state, the intention is to drill the masses into such a spirit that next year there will be no difficulty in electing a legislature with but one well defined intention, and that is to make valueless the local railroads of this state." The first move in this direction is to brand all our fair-minded papers as being monopoly papers, railroad papers, etc. The Enterprise has been persistently followed by the pack papers opposed to it on political and business matters with the cry of Bonanza paper, etc., and, to its credit be it said, it has never hesitated, nor has Mr. Mackey nor Mr. Sharon, to say that it was the property of millionaires. We happen to know that the managers of the Enterprise have as free, if not a freer privilege, in the exercise of their ideas of right as any other paper on the coast, except, perhaps, in one or two cases where the direct interests of the men who own it are at stake, and in every case of that kind their interests might be said to be in a great degree to be identical with those of the state. If they should be mistaken in their stand on any question there is no way to prove that they are less sincere than other men are in their mistakes. It is well known that the GAZETTE is not in full accord with the Enterprise upon several important questions, but that does not prevent us from appreciating the ability and reliability of our contemporary, and far from joining in the cry that because a man is a millionaire he must not own a newspaper, we advocate the right of free speech for them the same as we do for other men. There is no organ so innocent as that of a great corporation or a great man. They are so very transparent that their denunciations and scoldings are injurious to no one, while their arguments and statements have their own weight and no more. The funniest thing in human nature is that no matter how true a statement or how logical an argument may be, if men do not like the man or paper which originates them they will turn them like a duck does water. Everything a man or paper says is tinged with its individuality to such an extent as to prejudice men for or against an unreasonable degree, and this fact is well known to the newspaper fraternity, who use it very often unscrupulously against papers far more honest than themselves.

THE COMINS-HOYT LIBEL SUIT.

The Comins-Hoyt libel suit has inaugurated a lively newspaper controversy between the Enterprise on one hand, and the Virginia Chronicle, Eureka Leader and Ward Reflex on the other. The principle involved in this discussion is, we think, all wrong. The matter now being before the courts for adjudication, it is therefore not a legitimate subject for such criticism as is indulged in by the papers named, who appear to be more intent on prejudicing the public mind to their respective views than anything else. We do not believe in a newspaper making a personal fight against a defendant in a criminal action. And while Mr. Comins has taken a rather foolish course to vindicate himself, it does not justify a newspaper in assaulting him for appealing to the law for protection against libel and calumny. If, after the trial is over, the prosecution is shown to have been malicious, then Mr. Comins is a fair subject for criticism on that point; but not now. A controversy such as is now being carried on has the effect of making trials a partizan fight between rival factions, rather than an equal administration of justice. If Mr. Hoyt has told the truth about Mr. Comins, let him prove it, and then let Mr. Comins suffer the contempt and scorn of every honest man. Mr. Comins has made the issue squarely in the courts, let him meet it and prove his innocence of the charges made against his integrity. The investigation should be full, fair and complete. Let justice be done though the heavens fall, but there should be no wrangling in the temple of justice. Mr. Comins' position on the railroad question has no bearing on the question. Did he allow corrupt motives to influence his vote? That is the point in issue. Personal and political issues have no bearing on the case whatever.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The San Francisco stock papers are showing about as much stupidity since as they did before the election. Just say something about the stock dealing business coming to Nevada, and it has the same effect upon them that the sight of a red flag has upon a Spanish bull. Nobody of sound sense thinks the stock business is coming here, but when we jokingly mentioned it we only carried out the arguments that those same papers were preaching to their readers by the column daily. When these papers strike out so wildly at the substance of their own arguments, they show how fallacious and what utter clap-trap they are. A little more consistency might have defeated the new constitution.

The GAZETTE would be very glad to see papers like the Argonaut taking the place of the Police Gazette and such papers in the hands of the young and the idle. The one is full of thought on the most important and interesting subjects, as well as upon matters of literary and lighter nature. The others are simple collections of stories of crimes, foul deeds and accidents, which are of no earthly benefit to the reader as news, and are very detrimental to morals, as they inflame the imagination and create false and low ambitions.

All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy. We approve of outdoor sports for everybody. Ladies and children, boys, girls and men. Men as much as any class need a change, and if they can be kept interested in some healthy game which takes them out into the open air and makes them exercise lungs and legs it is a splendid relief from the cares of business and the anxiety of constantly pressing details.

The Virginia papers are increasing their circulation largely, especially on the outside of the Comstock, by their everlasting quarrel. People in Carson, Reno and Sutro take great pleasure in paying fifty cents a week to read once a day that the Enterprise is a part of the auditor's office of the V. & T. R. R., and that McCarthy is Irish, and the Chronicle an emanation from the cerebrum of an overrated prevaricator.

We have received the initial number of the Paradise Reporter, a handsome six column weekly, published by J. J. Hill & Co., of the Silver State. It is well edited, "makes up" neatly, and is chuck full of live news relating to the locality in which it is published. We extend a hearty welcome to the new journal and hope it will prove a mine of wealth to its proprietors and a joy forever to its subscribers.

The thirty or forty chickadee weeklies in California that favored the new constitution are sling columns of loaded blarney at the Chronicle for its part in the fight. The Chronicle in turn puts them approvingly on the head, as much as to say "you, Kearney and the rest made a very good tail to the Chronicle kite."

The total number of men that will be called out this year to do military service in France is 796,140, thus distributed over the three branches of the service: The active army, 479,100; reserve, 144,570; territorial army, 118,000.

New York Sun: The one formidable competitor against Gen. Grant for the Republican nomination to the Presidency is John Sherman of Ohio. This has been apparent for some time past and it is becoming more and more clear.

According to the St. Petersburg Golos, the Russian government will hereafter compel the proprietors of all factories to provide free hospitals and medicinal attendance for those of their employees who contract disease or suffer injuries in their factories.

"Wade Hampton opposes round dances."—Exchange. Perhaps it is pertinent in this connection to state that Wade Hampton has only one leg.

Reno is getting hungry for a theatre. We are missing Barrett, Miss Fanny Davenport, Boucicault and a lot of good things. All eyes are watching Hammond & Wilson's buildings.

Hereafter the Buckwheats of California will date from the passage of the new constitution.

Important Mining Decision.

[Bureau Sentinel.]

The supreme court of the United States a few days since promulgated the following important mining decision: Flagstaff Silver mining company of Utah, plaintiff, in error, vs. Helen Tarbet, in error, to the supreme court of Utah. The controversy in this case relates to the respective rights of two mining companies in the Little Cottonwood district, Utah, who are working subterraneously on the same lode or vein of ore. The principal question involved is whether the Flagstaff company has a right to carry on excavations underground outside the perpendicularly drawn side lines of its surface location, when, by so doing, it infringes upon the rights of the adjoining claimant. With regard to the important question of following lodes or veins of ore below the surface and the respective rights of contending parties in such cases, this court holds as follows: First—Location of a mining claim upon a lode or vein of ore should be laid along the same lengthwise of its course, at or near the surface, under mining act of 1866 and that of 1872. Second—Each locator is entitled to follow the dip of the lode or vein to an indefinite depth, even though it carries him outside of side lines of location; but this right is based on the hypothesis that the side lines substantially correspond with the course of the lode or vein at the surface and that it is bounded at each end by the end lines of the location crossing the lode or vein, and extending perpendicularly downwards and indefinitely in their own direction. Third—If the location be laid crosswise of the lode or vein, so that its greatest length crosses the same, instead of following the course thereof, it will secure only so much of the vein as it actually crosses at the surface, and the side lines of the location will become end lines thereof for the purpose of defining rights of owners. Fourth—A locator working subterraneously into the dip of vein a belonging to another locator who is in possession of his location is a trespasser, and liable to action for taking ore therefrom. In accordance with these principles, this court holds that the Flagstaff company is outside its rightful boundaries, and it therefore affirms the judgement of the lower court in favor of Helen Tarbet. Justice Bradley delivered the opinion.

News From Paradise.

[From Saturday's Reporter.]

A peculiar kind of fever has appeared in this vicinity, which seems to be a puzzler. Its commencement and entire course is almost identical with that of remittent or bilious fever, with the exception of being of a lower grade and longer duration. Soon after the beginning of the attack, the patient's body and extremities become thickly covered with small, red spots, about a fourth of an inch in diameter, which do not disappear until some time after recovery. The disease does not appear to be very severe, nor is it contagious.

The grading for the Paradise valley mill is about finished, and Messrs. Mather & Lind, who have contracted to build the mill, will push the work ahead as rapidly as possible. White & Howell roasting furnaces will be erected at the mill. Nine car loads of lumber arrived in Winnemucca during the last week, and the greater part of it was loaded and forwarded to its destination by Alex Wise, who had the contract of hauling it to the mill site. Several large loads, including the heavy timbers, have already passed this point.

Millions and millions of crickets are coming in from the north and northwest. After a remarkably dry winter, no snow on the mountains, rivers, creeks and springs drying up, and all on account of which but about half of the arable land in these parts has been tilled, to have this plague come upon us to devour and destroy what little grain we expected to raise, makes our farmers give utterance to very forcible and outspoken thoughts.

TRUCKEE ITEMS.

[From the Republican of To-day.]

Some of the girls at Nevada City smoke cigarettes, at which the Transcript man waxes wroth, and reads them a lecture.

Mr. W. C. Durno has taken a contract to furnish the Pacific shingle company blocks to manufacture 15,000,000 shingles.

A few days ago the room of James A. Noyes, at the American Hotel, was entered, his trunk rifled and a twenty-dollar roll stolen therefrom. A boot-black was arrested on suspicion, but nothing being proved against him, he was discharged.

J. E. Marshall is building a shingle mill near the Truckee river, about six miles above town. It will be completed in about ten days. The shingle trade promises to be brisk this season.

W. B. Campbell, of the Hot Springs Hotel, Lake Tahoe, informs us that his house is ready for the reception of guests. The house has been renovated and improved, and tourists will find they can pass a few days pleasantly at this place, enjoying the baths and viewing the great lake of the Sierras.

George Schaffer is determined to have nothing to do with the "heathen Chinese." He has a crew of twenty men at his mill, all whites. He has a number of boys between the ages of seventeen and twenty working for him. Most of them are Truckeeites, and they are thus enabled to earn an honest living. They are capable and industrious, and though many of them are having their first experience as laborers, they are doing good work.

The Washoe bucks do not take kindly to the fish laws, which interfere with their favorite pastime of catching the unwary trout with grab-hooks. Yesterday a stalwart buck, drunk as a lord, gave his views on the fish laws to an amused audience, in about the following language: "Injin man no understand. He grab-hook fish, white man put him in jail. Long time ago no white man, Injin heap catchem fish, deer, grouse, grasshopper, all right. White man come, lawyer man, Judge say Injin no grab-hook. Injin catchem two fish, thirty days jail. White man no own fish, no own river. Everybody own him, Injin own him. White man say no catchem fish. Free country, hell!" And he reeled off, looking intensely disgusted.

The World on the New Constitution.

NEW YORK, May 11.—The World has a leading article on what it calls the "Lesson of California." The writer makes the following points: California has risen up convulsively against the monopolizing corporations. Have not we of the East heard the beginning of muttering thunders against similar corporations, which are said or supposed to escape their fair share of taxation, and which are said or are supposed to manage their affairs more for the benefit of the managers than for the good of the shareholders. Has nothing ever been heard in this part of the world about manipulating the legislature and the courts of justice? Californians have behaved in an odd way about the jury system and about the failures of courts to keep their dock-ets clear, but do we not in New York complain of the inconvenience of required unanimity in civil cases of (relax men, and of the impossibility of getting lawsuits decided within a reasonable time. Similar complaints have compelled the Parliament of England to make serious and extensive changes in the judicial system of that country within a few years past.

The reasons why we compete successfully are:

FIRST—We buy our goods in original packages and sales in the Eastern markets from manufacturers, importers and commission merchants.

SECOND—We have signed a contract with the Central Pacific Railroad Company whereby we are to receive the very lowest terms for freight.

THIRD—Our expense is much lower here in Sacramento than what it can be under most favorable circumstances in New York, as we have all of their advantages and are not obliged to pay thousands of dollars for rent, as we own our store property.

We Forward a Price List Free to any part of the Pacific Coast.

THE LATEST.

The Election Given Up by By the Non-Partisans.

Business stopped and Everybody Getting Rested.

(Special Dispatch to the GAZETTE.)

SAN FRANCISCO, May 8th—9:30 A. M.—No returns received since closing dispatch last night, except from San Jose which says eleven precincts including San Jose give majority against it, 748 with nine small precincts to hear from, including Mayfield, Mountain view and Alviso. San Jose 594 against. Total vote of the city 37,934. Majority against adoption 1,238. New Constitution conceded by from five to ten thousand majority.

SECOND DISPATCH.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 8.—Things are very quiet in the city to-day. Everybody apparently tired out by excitement of yesterday and last night. Quite a crowd remains around the bulletin boards, but as no dispatches of importance come in interest has flagged. The result of the election has evidently caused deep distrust in business circles if anything can be predicted upon expressions heard on every side. Kearneyites, on the contrary, are jubilant, and are already engaged in the pleasing occupation of portioning out spoils in advance.

Stocks took a tumble which was no more than might have been expected, owing to the feeling of depression on the street, although as far as can be learned there is no disposition manifested to allow bears to assume control of the market.

Stock journals are engaged in demonstrations that so far as speculation is concerned, the new deal will be powerless to interfere with operations of dealers whatever general effect on mining interests it may have. Agricultural counties come in for a liberal share of denunciation for their aid in hoisting sand lot reign upon city and state, and it is conceded that the only thing to be done to prevent the execution of the laws under the new constitution by the Kearney element, will be to make square Republican issue against them, trusting to the political party leaning of the interior, to counteract sand lot influence.

THIRD DISPATCH.

SAN FRANCISCO—3:30 P. M.—It is conceded by all that the new constitution is carried by between five and seven thousand majority in the State. San Francisco gave only 1,210 against it, instead of 8,000, as was confidently expected. Returns come in very slowly to-day. A few unimportant precincts in El Dorado, Placer, Nevada, and Sierra counties reduce the majorities somewhat, but the returns from Kern, Colusa, Fresno and Tulare counties more than overbalance them.

The streets are almost deserted and an air of gloom pervades the city. The stock boards are very dull and prices have taken a tumble.

Another Relief Committee.

Several members of the defunct working men's party gathered together Thursday and grew hilarious over the result of the California election. On motion of H. H. Beck they resolved themselves into a committee to relieve the necessities of Leland Stanford, Lloyd Lewis, J. C. Flood and other distressed persons whom the new constitution would force to leave California. It was decided to issue invitations for them to come to Reno and join the Reform Club. Any suffering San Francisco millionaires will be housed, clothed and fed at the committee's expense, and sent on his way to the east rejoicing. They also resolved to set nets to catch the frightened capital that would begin to fly east in a few days.

Fine Work.

The new saloon of Charley Chase is having fitted up on Virginia street will be palatial in its appointments when finished. Updike & Clark are painting and gilding the counter, wainscoting doors, etc., and a rare job they are making of it. They touch up their fine jobs with a truly artistic skill and the work in Charley Chase's saloon is not their worst by any means.

THE NEW CONSTITUTION.

Opinion as to What Effect It Will Have on Reno.

A GAZETTE reporter tried to learn the opinion of prominent men on the effects of the new constitution on Reno.

J. L. McFarlin fears it will be rather unfavorable than otherwise. He says the board was unable to negotiate their school bonds in California, because they will be subject to taxation. He thinks any blow to California is one on Nevada.

H. W. Roberts, of Verdi, is of the opinion that it will bring capital here which is now used over the mountains into Nevada, but thinks that there are so many Nevada men doing business in California that the general effect of it will be bad.

J. C. Hagerman thinks it will have little or no effect on Nevada, unless shares in the general prosperity which he believes it will bring to California. He has hopes that it will give the country cheaper money.

John Bowman thinks it will have no effect.

Fred Wetherell thinks it will make money plenty.

A. A. Longley thinks it is hard to tell the effects here. He has heard that several mines will disincorporate in California and move their headquarters here, also bring some insurance agencies.

Mr. Leeper was of the opinion that the adoption of the new constitution would be of incalculable benefit to the state of California. It protects the people from stock jobbers, land grabbers and monopolists, and prohibits the state or any corporation from working Chinamen. The railroad commission clause is one of the best clauses of the instrument. The responsibility is thrown upon three men and they cannot escape it. If they betray their trust and certain retribution will be their portion. Mr. Leeper is enthusiastic over its adoption and thinks it will benefit Reno a good deal.

J. H. Kinkead believes the effects in California will be much less injurious than the papers claim. If the companies incorporate in Nevada they will still do their business in San Francisco, so that the effects in Nevada will be very slight. No injury will come to the Comstock mines in consequence. The liabilities of directors has always been part of the constitution, but the courts have decided time and again that legislation was necessary in order to render it operative. Many of the provisions which have been used as bugbears will be found very innocent on trial. Many companies will doubtless incorporate here, and if they are sued or attached or have law suits, the business will be done in Nevada, which will make more business in the courts perhaps.

John Cahlan believes it will be a benefit to Reno. He thinks it will keep outsiders out of stocks, as they cannot buy so readily on margins. He thinks it will not change the state of affairs much. The brokers and dealers will accommodate business to the change, and when the matter is once regulated things will go on just as usual.

Mr. Osburn thinks it will cause moneyed men to look outside of California for investments and may start manufacturing in Reno; thinks unless it is repealed it will in the end be a great benefit.

E. Meyer thinks it will unsettle business in California and Nevada will catch some of the settlements. He thinks charity begins at home and if it will help us we ought to take the benefit.

C. Knust thinks it is a bad blow at Nevada as well as California. Virginia will go down and all parts of the state will sympathize with it.

Josh Laws thinks if the merchants insist on the rules they talk about it will effect the whole community disastrously, but he believes they were talking for effect. He thinks it will effect Reno very little.

J. S. Gilson has an idea that it will enhance the value of real estate in Reno. The courts are abolished from now until next January, and that will make a great deal of confusion. He thinks the stock boards will move to Nevada next year. A good many outside mines will have their offices in Reno.

If Nevada could get through rates G. W. Cunningham thinks Reno would gain some of the wholesale dealers. He has an idea that some capital will be driven into Nevada as it is.

A "square Deal" Wanted.

Henry Johnson, the soft voiced young man who engineers Hagerman & Schooling's delivery wagon, desires the GAZETTE to inform the board of commissioners, that if they passed an ordinance prohibiting the driving of vehicles on the sidewalk, they must also pass an ordinance forbidding people from walking in the street. Mr. Johnson's demonstrative manner led the GAZETTE reporter to believe that he would inaugurate a reign of terror in case the board did pay heed to his request.

"What's new?" The new constitution.

The river is quite low, and has resumed its normal limpidity.

The weather has moderated, so that there is no discomfort attached to leaning over a gate after 9 p. m., except what may be entailed by the house dog or the parental toe.

IDLE CROAKERS.

Who Are Always Prophecying Evil and do Nothing to Avert It.

"Wait about two months; then you will see a dull town here." This is a remark heard twenty times a day since the fire. The expression generally comes from men who lost nothing by the fire, and have done nothing to build up the town since. They shake their heads in a deprecatory sort of way, and repeat in mournful cadence the above exclamation. It does not matter that their predictions always come to naught, they continue to dream out their ominous prophecies. When the fire burned the town down, Reno had seen her best day. It would be years before it was built up, and probably never. Times were going to be fearfully hard, and many forced to leave. It is now little more than two months since the fire, and the town is nearly rebuilt. The buildings as a rule are better and more ornamental than those burned down. Business has been better since the fire than before, and times here have not been harder than elsewhere. Yet those croakers in the hive continue to croak of calamity to come, and hard times that everybody must experience in the future. They have nothing to gain and therefore nothing to lose. They have no confidence in themselves, and it follows, therefore, that they have no faith in anything or anybody. They neither weave nor spin; are fifth wheels in the industrial cart, and birds of evil omen, whose mission in the world seems to be degrading and retarding progress. They tell men who are building and trying to help themselves that they will never get their money back again, or only have their labor for their pains. These fellows never put any money in anything, and therefore never get any back. They never take any pains, consequently never lose any labor. A man who takes heed of their croakings is foolish, and one that takes their advice is doubly so.

I. C. of R. C.

The grand encampment of Champions closed its annual session at Virginia City, on Thursday at 2 p. m. The following are the grand officers for the present year: J. M. Hoy, of Truckee, G. Com.; E. L. Kimball, of Reno, G. Com.; Mrs. Mary Rakes, of Susanville, G. M. of C.; Mrs. D. A. Weller, of Truckee, G. Secy.; M. C. Day, of Virginia City, G. T.; R. Fallon, of Truckee, G. C. of H.; Dr. Coon, of Reno, G. L.; E. V. Spencer, of Susanville, G. S. C.; F. W. True, of Millard, G. J. C.; T. J. Corbhan, of Antelope valley, G. C.; Dr. J. S. Newland, of Virginia City, P. G. Com. The next Grand Encampment will be held at Reno. Following are the delegates to the supreme commandery of the world, which meets at Denver, Colorado, next October: Dr. Coon, Edward A. Weed, W. H. Moe, B. Drummond, A. D. Weller, T. H. Woodworth, R. Leeper, C. C. Davis, Mrs. E. V. Spencer, and W. Sanders.

Too Much Bug-Jaice.

One of the passengers on the eastern bound overland train last night was seen to be acting rather queerly. When the train reached this point he got a lay-over ticket, and insisted on getting off. His erratic movements finally led the officers to take him to the county jail. At the jail he gave William Gillman as his name. This morning he was more rational, and behaved quite sensibly. It appearing that he was only suffering from the effects of a prolonged drinking bout, and was about over it, he was released.

Since the above was written it was ascertained that he is a resident of Sacramento. His brother will be up from that place to-night for the purpose of taking him home.

Another Industry.

Harry Bowmer will distribute to the ladies of Reno samples of compressed yeast to-morrow morning. This yeast is made from selected German grain, and is chemically pure and free from acids. It is impossible to make sour bread with it, and it makes nicer bread than is possible with any other yeast. The only objection to it is that it will not keep more than a week under any circumstances, and is only sure of giving satisfaction when used within two or three days. For this reason it has been found impossible to introduce it through the stores. Mr. Bowmer will deliver it twice a week in the morning for 25 cents a week in advance, direct from the San Francisco factory.

Ah Choney Not to Hang.

T. V. Julien presented Ah Choney's case before the board of pardons for commutation of sentence Thursday. A petition signed by the principal business men of Reno was presented, praying for commutation. The board took the matter under consideration, and finally commuted the death sentence to imprisonment for life. Ah Choney was overjoyed when he heard that he was not to hang, and was as happy as a human being can well be. He expresses the profoundest gratitude for Waldo & Julien and General Clarke, his attorneys, for saving him from the gallows.

LOOK OUT FOR YOUR EYE.

A Prophet and the Son of a Prophet.

The novelists have gotten the political fever, and one has written a novel. This startling story opens April 16, 1880. There are then only two parties left—Republicans and Labor-Greenback. The former seize the country and make Grant dictator. Chapter 6 describes a secret society, "The Circle," headed by a "Great Unknown," which is to save the country. Ch. 8, Grant enters New York guarded by 5000 soldiers, and attacked by an army of citizens. He escapes to his palace. Ch. 19 and 20, (1880) rockets and bonfires at midnight summon the patriots to arms all over the land. Railroad trains, forts, arsenals, armories and war vessels are captured. Ch. 21, there is a real death grapple in New York. The armories of all but four regiments captured by 30,000 patriots. Grant seizes himself. Ch. 22, burning of Brooklyn navy yard. Beecher's march. Ch. 23, New York city and two-thirds of the United States restored to freedom; 47,000 killed and wounded. Ch. 24, Grant goes to Philadelphia to be crowned Emperor Ulysses I. After various extraordinary and curious incidents he is crowned in Independence Hall. Ch. 25, Fort Hamilton surrenders to Fort Wadsworth after a short bombardment. Ch. 26, the Imperialists form great armies at West Philadelphia and Louisville, Ky.; the patriots at South Amboy, N. J., and Cincinnati, O. There are many small battles. The stock market falls. The patriots seize the sub-treasury.

Undoubtedly Crazy.

News being a little scarce Saturday, a GAZETTE reporter was struck with the happy idea of interviewing the milk men as to what effect the new constitution would have on their business. Just as the reportorial mind had reached the conclusion to do it, a milk wagon came dashing by at full speed. To hail it was the work of a moment. When the driver had pulled up, the reporter drew his note book and insinuatingly inquired "how he thought the new constitution would affect the milk business in Reno." The man seemed to take a sudden fit. He grew red in the face, gesticulated wildly, and finally ejaculated, "Well, I'll be ———!" The reporter saw that the man was in a terribly perturbed state, and concluded that he was light in the upper story, so he kindly asked what was the matter, doing so very mildly, as the unfortunate milk merchant appeared to be in a frenzy. The question seemed to still further madden the dealer in lacteal nourishment, for he shouted out, "Go to h—ll! You and the new constitution, too, you infernal onion-headed son of a saw buck!" He didn't exactly say that, but something very like it, and he drove off at a furious rate, leaving the reporter so lost in astonishment that he forgot to interview any more milk men on the subject.

Busy Reformers in Carson.

The Tribune chronicles the doings of the Carson Reform club thus: The society is busily engaged in fitting up club rooms, and when completed they will be an ornament to the town. There will be a meeting room, a reading room and card room, and also a billiard room. A coffee stand will be opened by the ladies of the club, and every opportunity will be offered for members to spend their evenings with innocent amusements. The society is on a substantial footing.

The Wine House.

The cellar of the Wine House has been extended forty feet, making its total length one hundred feet. The building will be just the same size as the cellar. The cellar has just been finished, and the work of laying the walls commenced. The building is to be two stories in height, and will be one of the handsomest on Commercial Row.

More Workers.

The grand encampment of Nevada and Northeastern California, Independent Champions of the Red Cross, will meet in Reno the first Tuesday in May, 1880. There will be over one hundred delegates. This is a temperance organization, with over thirty lodges in its jurisdiction. Steps are being taken to organize the council branch, composed of higher degrees.

Fatal Affray at Sierra City.

There was a fatal shooting affray at Sierra City on the 1st of May, between John Glass and Dr. J. J. Sawyer. Glass drew a pistol on Sawyer, who in turn drew his and fired three shots at Glass, one taking effect and killing him instantly. The coroner's jury exonerated Sawyer from all blame, as the killing was done clearly in self-defense.

The meeting for the purpose of instituting a new lodge of I. C. of R. C. was held Friday at the Odd Fellows' hall over the Congregational church. There were fifty-two names on the roll for membership. Permanent organization was not effected, as it was decided to have the charter open for several days yet in order to give all who wish to join a chance to become charter members.

MADDEN AND GARDNER.

Given Five Years—Gardner Declares Madden Innocent.

William Madden and George F. Gardner, convicted of the robbery of William Luke, were called up Saturday for sentence. When Judge King reached the point where he asked the prisoners if they had anything to say why sentences should not be pronounced upon them, Judge Haydon, their counsel, arose and moved the court in a long and exhaustive argument to grant a new trial. The motion for new trial was overruled, and the judge again proceeded to deliver sentence, but was interrupted by Gardner, who intimated that he wished to say something. He was told to proceed, and then went on to inform the court that he was guilty, but Madden was not, and that he would rather suffer a double sentence than see Madden punished for his crime. Himself and another party, he said, did the robbery while Madden was in a saloon. He did not give the name of the party who assisted in the robbery, and said he had never seen him since that night. Madden was both ignorant and innocent of the crime. Of course this confession came too late to do any good, and the sentence was duly pronounced. Madden and Gardner were alike sentenced to five years in the state prison, the lowest penalty under the law that could be inflicted. They were taken up to Carson Saturday in company with Ah Choney.

A Good Suggestion.

ED. GAZETTE:—Having noticed in the Reno papers that a move was on foot to organize a military company, and learning from one of the items that Mr. Laycock has procured some forty names as a starter, but will not organize before some twenty-five or thirty more men are enrolled, I beg leave to make the following suggestions. First, I would suggest that the proper way to organize would be to let ten men who have sufficient interest in having a military company here at Reno and Washoe county would encourage and be proud to organize as a rifle club, and admit new members through the usual form of investigating committee and ballot box. By that means it would debar all objectionable persons from disgracing the organization. By adopting the above suggestion, when sufficient members were balloted for and elected, they could with pride apply to the proper state officers for admission to the National Guard, whereas, if organized by the present plan, I believe it would be confusion worse confounded, as it would be a difficult task to get rid of the drones and good-for-nothing members, (when once sworn into the state service) who join expressly to procure certain exemptions.

EXPERIENCE.

Reno' May 10th, 1879.

Another Touch of Winter.

A snow storm raged fiercely Friday night in the Sierras. It snowed quite heavily at Truckee. A part of the storm reached Reno, and some snow fell here, but melted almost immediately. It was intensely cold here for this season of the year, and it is feared that the "fruit crop is seriously injured. Indeed the cherries have gone by the board almost entirely, and the strawberries are pretty badly used up. The wind blew at a terrible rate, and overcoats and comforters were in demand. It is quite pleasant to-day, however.

Another Reno Industry.

Abrahams brothers have decided to start an extensive merchant tailoring establishment in Reno. They intend to manufacture clothing so cheap that they can successfully compete with eastern manufacturers. They will have one man between here and Ogden to measure and take orders, and another for the same purpose, between here and Sacramento. Their goods will be bought at wholesale prices in New York, and specially selected for this climate.

Changed His Mind.

An individual rushed out of an unfinished house this morning in a highly expletive state of excitement, and made for another man with the ejaculatory intention of whipping him. As the other fellow showed a disposition to stay and take his medicine like a man, his heart was touched with pity, and he concluded to let him off this time.

Fair and Festival.

The ladies of the M. E. church are preparing to hold a grand fair and festival, musical and literary entertainment at the pavilion, on the 21st, 22d and 23d inst. Proceeds to apply on payment of church indebtedness. Look out for a good time. The ladies of the Methodist church know how to conduct a fair and festival.

New Music.

An excellent song and chorus, "Gentle Daisy Bell," has just been issued with a beautiful photograph of Marie Rege as "Carmen," adorning the title. Either song or photograph is worth more than the marked price of both—40 cents. The publishers, Sherman, Hyde & Co., have found it almost impossible to supply the demand.

JOTTINGS.

—John Hey has rheumatism bad.
—Thomas Hitchcock is getting better.

—G. H. Fogg is having a fine meat wagon built.

—John F. Alexander is so indisposed that he is confined to his room.

—Mrs. C. H. Merrill had the ill fortune to burn her hand severely while cooking.

—J. L. McFarlin has finished a fine spring wagon for the Reno Ice Co.

—The frame work of the second story of Hammond & Wilson's building is going up.

—The Journal man has got 'em again—grasshoppers this time. Better join the reform club.

—The tidal wave of temperance that has overflowed Reno does not seem to effect the saloons much. None of them have closed up, and none propose to.

—The county clerk has issued a license authorizing J. H. Kroeber and Miss Emma Luskin to enter into a matrimonial co-partnership.

Dr. Moody, of Susanville, says Wednesday night's frost killed every apple, peach and pear tree in Honey Lake Valley.

—A specimen of Reno's soil may be seen in the excavation on Virginia street next to Sunderland's. It is two rocks to one soil.

—Parties are doing some extensive filling in on the river front just above Kimball hall. Several building lots will be made by this process.

—L. S. Burchard, school census marshal of this district, has finished taking the census of all the children out of the town proper and is busily engaged in taking those in town.

PERSONALS.

W. H. Treadway has returned from an extended visit to California.

Chas. Wright, who is well and favorably known in this section, as representing McKesson & Robbins, wholesale druggists of New York, was a passenger on the Great Republic. He saved himself, but lost about six thousand dollars' worth of baggage, consisting of six large trunks of valuable samples.

N. S. A. M. & M. S.

The trustees of the Nevada State Agricultural Mining and Mechanical Society held an adjourned meeting at the Pavilion Saturday. The business of arranging a speed programme occupied their attention. The indications are that the speed programme will be one of the best ever offered since the organization of the society. The premiums in some cases will be increased while those of other and less important races will be cut down. A great many other defects will be weeded out. Nothing will be decided on till their next meeting, which will be held in a week, at which time the full programme for the coming state fair will be published.

Bound to go Alone.

William Gillman, the individual who arrived here the other day with his mental equilibrium in a topsy-turvy condition from abutting his stomach too frequently with Sacramento whiskey, picked up his grip sack, slipped out of the Lake house about 12 o'clock Saturday, and started on to California across lots. Lew Walker saw him making his way toward the mountains, and informed his brother who went out and brought him back.

Caution!

Those ladies to whom samples of the celebrated German compressed yeast were distributed Saturday are cautioned to use it immediately, as it does not retain its good qualities over three or four days. Those who wish to try this excellent article can do so by applying to Harry L. Bowmer at the GAZETTE office. The price delivered twice a week, on "baking day," is only 15 cents per week.

A Live Village.

Carson City had not snap enough to pay the Western Union company fifteen dollars to get election news from California. Before they got the GAZETTE prominent citizens were willing to bet a dollar the new constitution was beaten.

Taken to Carson.

Deputy Sheriff Chamberlain took Ah Choney to his future home in the Carson state prison Saturday. Ah Choney went to his new home happy, and contented at escaping the hangman's noose.

A Puzzle.

Vincent Maltovice vs. Maris Aash. Jury empaneled and case now on trial. The jury returned a verdict of $300 for the plaintiff.—Journal.

The solution to this riddle will be found in another column.

Deacon Parkinson's Trial.

The trial of Deacon Parkinson, which came up in the United States district court in Carson Thursday, was postponed until June 2nd, on account of the defendant's illness.

THE FEES MUDDLE.

To be Settled Without the Expense of Litigation.

The following proposition has been presented to the board of county commissioners:

The Town of Reno.

The board of county commissioners yesterday ordered that: The meets and bounds of said incorporated town of Reno shall be more fully described, as follows: Beginning at the corner to sections 2, 3, 10, 11, in T 19 N R 19 E, and running thence east between 2 and 11 and 12, to the 1/4 corner between 1 and 12 thence south through the middle of section 12 and 13 to the centre of section 13, thence west through the middle of sections 13 and 14 to the 1/4 corner between 14 and 15, thence north between 14 and 15 and 10 and 11 to the place of beginning. Containing within said above described boundaries, the whole of section 11, the west 1/2 of section 12, the NW 1/4 of section 13 and the north 1/2 of section 14; T 19 N. R. 10 E.

To the honorable board of commissioners of Washoe county.

WHEREAS, there are certain fees which have heretofore been charged by the county clerk and sheriff, and which have heretofore been allowed by your honorable body and audited by the county auditor to said officers as just and legal and which are now claimed by the present county officers aforesaid, and which the last grand jury consider of doubtful legality and have recommended to your honorable body to test the legality of the same. Now, therefore, we the undersigned, acquiescing in the suggestion of the grand jury and wishing to further their ideas and suggestions in relation to the same, and being desirous of avoiding expense to the county as well as to ourselves, make the

FOLLOWING PROPOSITION:

That an agreed case be made in the nature of an arbitration, and presented for decision to the supreme court of this state or to either of the judges thereof, or to the judge of any district court in this state as follows:

The district attorney shall specify the fees which he shall consider illegal or of doubtful legality, specifying specially and separately as nearly as practicable the grounds on which the illegality rests, and the said officer shall, in reply to the same, make a brief or statement of the grounds on which they claim and charge such fees and also add, in addition to the fees specified by the district attorney, any further fees of a doubtful nature which they may claim as with the grounds on which they claim and charge the same, to which the district attorney may reply also in briefs or statements. The judge or judges to whom the same shall have been submitted shall then appoint a time and place for argument by both sides and the county officers and district attorney shall then and there be permitted to argue, each one for himself; no other legal counsel being permitted in the case. All argument to be made under rule of court and after said argument shall have been made, then shall the judge or judges decide as to the legality of said claim or claims, charge or charges, which decision shall be binding and shall be used as a basis of allowance of said fees in question.

W. A. WALKER, Sheriff.
MARK PARISH, Clerk.
JNO. S. BOWKER, J. P., Reno.
Reno, May 6th, 1879.

THE COMMISSIONERS AGREE.

The board took the proposition under consideration to-day, and ordered that said proposition be accepted, and that the agreed case in said proposition specified be made by the district attorney and county officers as therein indicated, and that the same be submitted to the supreme court of this state, provided it can be ascertained that said supreme court will hear and determine the matter immediately, if not, then to Hon. S. D. King, judge of the 2nd judicial district, for decision as soon as the same can be heard. The district attorney is ordered and directed to proceed in the matter immediately.

Riot Threatened in Salt Lake.

The telegraph brings the intelligence that the conviction of Miles, the Mormon bigamist, has created intense excitement in Salt Lake City. A riot between the Mormons and Gentiles is imminent, and bloodshed will probably result before the day is over, unless the military interfere to keep the peace.

Plumas Jab-jabs

(From the National. May 3d.)

A grand rodeo commences at Smoke Creek, Lassen county, in a short time. Weed is preparing to attend, and will probably put his "imprint" on everything that isn't branded.

The Meadow Valley school commenced last Monday. Mr. J. M. Kelsey, of Sutter county, is teacher. Some twenty-five or thirty scholars are in attendance.

While the Taylorville boys were playing a practice game of base ball a few days ago a bat slipped out of a man's hand, striking Seth, Smith, a boy some sixteen years of age, square on the forehead. Singular to relate the bat broke in two, but the boy was not seriously injured.

John Williams, one of the stage robbers who operated between here and Oroville during the summer of 1876, was captured at Ione City, lately, by detective J. B. Hume.

Plumas wants a daily mail, and there is no use waiting much longer for something to "turn up." Go to work and make it "turn up." All that is needed is that our citizens display a little energy, and a daily would take the place of a "semi-occasional," with which they have been blessed in the years past.

Newtown Flat and vicinity is fast developing into a lively mining camp, and much activity is shown in taking up claims. One fight over disputed ground has already been recorded, and the chances are good for several more. Some considerable dust is coming from that quarter.

Some little skirmishing lately up in the Jamison country, but the spring fights have hardly commenced. Nothing worse than throwing rocks and tumblers is yet reported.

We are told that Cap. Winters and partner picked up ten ounces of coarse gold on the bedrock in their Willow Creek claims, a few days ago.

The Plumas Ditch Company are making "big" money this season in the Gopher Hill claims, and their two 7-inch pipes make the gravel fairly melt.

Humboldt Items.

The Beaconsfield Company are now piling ore at the depot for shipment to Salt Lake.

Winnemucca Silver State, May 7th, says: E. P. Terrey, who arrived from Paradise as we go to press, says that T. K. West, who was shot by Hymer died at 5 o'clock last night.

Bob S'ade, of Mill City, informs us that nobody has yet volunteered to serve as Postmaster at Mill City. This is unfortunate, as according to the letter of Mr. Daggett, the office will be closed shortly unless a suitable person offers to fill it.

We learn from Superintendent Williams that the grading for the Paradise Valley mill is about finished, and that Messrs. Mather & Lind, who have contracted to build the mill, will push their work through as rapidly as possible. A White & Hewell roasting furnace will be erected at the mill.

The examination of the alleged conspirators to rob Wells, Fargo & Co.'s safe at Lovelock of some $2,000 belonging to the School Fund of Big Meadows District, has not yet been held. West and another man, whose name we have not learned, are in custody of the officers, one of whom, John Cody, arrived here last evening in subpoena witnesses. It is expected that the examination will be held this afternoon.

Grass Valley Notes.

(From the Union.)

Truckee precinct, which was going overwhelmingly for the new constitution, according to the Republican, gave it but 26 majority. If the Republican had had a chance to talk to its readers in a few more issues we might have looked for a decided majority for retaining the old.

Grass Valley is to feel the effect of the adoption of the new constitution, in a way that people will readily comprehend, by the stopping, or rather preventing the starting up of work on the Gold Hill mine.

There was really no happy faces in Grass Valley yesterday over the result of the election. Even those who had voted on the winning side seemed to be affected by the gloom which settled down upon the community.

Indian Scare.

The Idaho Democrat has the following about the Indians up north: "There is some uneasiness felt in the southern portion of Owyhee county at the disposition manifested by the Indians on Duck valley reservation. This reservation seems to be the home of some of the Nevada Piutes, small bands of Idaho Piutes, and a remnant of the Nevada Shoshones, some of the Bruneau Indians and other renegades. It is said that the whole number of Indians congregated at the place amounts to nearly 3000. They are represented to be of the lowest type of cricketers. One white man is reported to have been killed recently by them, and other acts of violence and insolence are reported.

A Compliment.

WASHINGTON, May 7.—Daggett of Nevada has been selected by the Grand Army of the Republic organization to read the poem, and General Keiffer of Ohio to deliver the oration at the Arlington National Soldiers' Cemetery, on Decoration Day, the 30th instant.

POOR PROSPECTS IN LONG VALLEY.

Everything Looking Toward a Cleaning Out By Locusts.

A GAZETTE reporter learns that there is no prospect of any crops in Long Valley as far down as the Junction, and perhaps further. The grasshoppers are hatching out so thick that nothing short of a miracle can save the grain. Phi. Bates put in no crop at all. Roberts has no crop in. On all the ranches the hoppers were bad last year and took a large slice out of the crops. They laid eggs in patches from a rod square to over an acre. These patches are full to a depth of an inch and a half, and any given piece contains more eggs than soil. They are fairly matted together. The eggs are something like a grain of wheat but longer and slimmer, of a light straw color. They are now in all stages of hatching. The end where the head is, drops off first then the eyes appear. They cast the shell and crawl about for six weeks before they fly though they begin to hop at once, and from the first hour to the moment of their death they eat with the appetite of a hired hand. They begin to lay their eggs in July. They assemble in swarms at the spot chosen and stay there for three or four hours in the warmth of the day. There seems to be no killing them. They stand frost and water. Several ranchers covered the ground with straw an inch or two thick and when the grasshoppers covered it a match was touched to it but although it killed a great many yet there seemed to be no diminution. If they deposit eggs this year in Long Valley, which can easily be told, very few if any of the ranchers will put in crops next year.

Railroad Accident.

A railroad accident occurred on the Central Pacific near the state line about 10 o'clock Monday night. The west bound freight train No. 6, consisting of two engines and sixteen cars, was derailed about two miles west of Verdi, by running into a big bull belonging to Jack Foulks which had fallen into one of the culverts. One engine and six flat cars jumped the track. The cars were totally wrecked and the engine badly damaged. Fortunately no lives were lost and nobody severely hurt. Sam Jenkins, engineer of the second engine, jumped out of the cab window and down an embankment about ten feet high. His right wrist was considerably bruised and jammed, but beyond this he sustained no injury. The accident delayed the train for several hours. The western bound overland express laid at this point till half past seven next morning. The lightning and the eastern bound overland trains came in together at half past 10 o'clock.

A Marriage Medley.

A number of the particular friends of Mr. Isaacs, feeling that some public demonstration should be made in honor of that gentleman's marriage, turned out Tuesday with a Calithumpian band, and marched to his residence and treated him to an impromptu musical festival. Henry Henderson, the sable walking auction notice, led the band with his bell. The music was not entirely free from discord, but was equal in volume to a fog whistle, with two or three dozen Chinese gongs thrown in. Mr. Isaacs resisted the melodious blandishments for some time, but his friends kept up the serenade with such vigor and perseverance that he at last concluded to make some return for their kindly efforts to please. So Mr. Isaacs finally got out of bed, took the boys up and treated the party to wine.

Let Us Have a Public Drive.

It has been suggested, and the suggestion is approved by many of our citizens, that it would be a good idea to make a macadamized road from town to the fair grounds, with shade trees set out on each side, for a public drive. Such a road could be constructed without any great outlay, and would add much to the beauty and attractions of Reno. Let some of our citizens who are interested in the project get up a petition to the commissioners on the subject, and see if the thing can't be done.

Cold Weather in Winnemucca.

The Silver State says the mercury sinks below the freezing point every night. Of course fruits of all kinds, except, perhaps, trees which are sheltered from the north winds, are killed. The mean temperature for the week ending Monday was between six and seven degrees lower than that of the corresponding week of 1878, according to the records of the signal office, and the leaves on many shade trees are killed and shriveled by frosts.

Sierra Valley Items.

From A. K. Lamb, who has just returned from there, a GAZETTE reporter learned that vegetation was forward and flourishing in Sierra Valley until the late frost. The grasshoppers are hatching out, and are beginning to stir around some. Millions of them, not bigger than flies, are hopping about. They are not all over the valley, but are only in spots, as they have not left the hatching ground yet.

A Tidal Wave of Reform.

Fidelity Lodge of Good Templars met at the Odd Fellows hall, over the Reno Savings Bank Tuesday. Although scarcely a month old, it is now one of the most flourishing lodges in the state.

The Reform Club have not decided as yet where they will sit up their rooms. They are endeavoring to induce Winchel & Cunningham to build a second story on their new stone store on Virginia street, but as yet no definite conclusion has been arrived at. At the regular meeting of the club, held last Saturday night, a resolution was unanimously adopted inviting Hon. H. H. Beck to deliver an address to the club next Saturday night. The new encampment of I. C. of R. C., which was instituted here a few days ago, is also receiving a large number of recruits. It now numbers about seventy members. The Grand Lecturer, Dr. Coon, is still in Reno, and is working hard to put the new lodge in working order before he takes his departure for Surprise valley.

The Ladies' Temperance Union is also in a healthy condition, and numbers about forty members. This runs the total number of cold water drinkers in Reno up to over three hundred, and still "reform" is the cry.

Took a Walk.

Edwin Spears, the sanguinary individual of tar and feather fame, has concluded that discretion is the better part of valor after all. At any rate he shook the dust of Reno from his feet Monday, and journeyed elsewhere. Under the circumstances it was about the best thing he could do, for a longer stay here would, in all probability, have resulted still more disastrously than a little warm tar and feathers. The foolish threats he made had the effect of destroying what little sympathy that people had for him, and only further exasperated those who were of the opinion that he was served right in the first place.

Suicide of a Young Orphan.

Sunday night a young girl inmate of the State Orphan's Home, Emma N. Kelley, committed suicide in Carson by tying a sponge, saturated with chloroform, over her mouth and nose. She was about fifteen years of age, and came from Elko county. She had been an inmate of the home for several years. A badly misspelled but pathetic letter was left containing some last requests, but no allusion was made to the causes that led to the terrible act.

Wool on Foot.

Thirty-three hundred sheep went through Reno to Washoe Tuesday. They are the property of Mr. Cutting who is taking them to Washoe to shear. When they came to the railroad track they turned into a circle and ran around and around a great revolving mass of wool for five minutes. Finally half a dozen young Americans gave the aid of their energetic efforts and the ring was broken up.

More Base Ball.

A new club was organized Monday under the name of the Mechanics Base Ball Club. The following are the members and officers: W. Nichols, president; J. Cramer, vice president; C. Behre, secretary; S. Ross, treasurer; C. Russell, captain; M. Mullany, E. Godat, J. Foley, C. Gray, J. McDonald, J. Dillrose, W. Sey, W. Jones, and D. Fuller.

The Vacuum or Equalizer is a sure cure for incipient Consumption, and for all stages of the disease that are not beyond the reach of human skill. It expands the lungs equally, and completely filling every space and crevice. It is very beneficial in cases of paralysis, etc., equalizing the circulation of the blood and stimulating the nerves. It is used in connection with medicated inhalations. Its application is simple. The patient sits in an air-tight box and the air is pumped out, where it is used on a limb. The air pump is used in connection with a case for the arm or leg.

Simmond's Medicated

Nabob Whiskey,

Great Remedy!

Strongly recommended by the Medical Faculty for all cases of Nervousness, Debility, Indigestion, Fever, Weakness, Dyspepsia, Chills, Etc.

SIMMOND'S NABOB WHISKEY!

Consumers are referred to the following extract from the report of an eminent Public Analyst:

This is pure barley and wheat spirit, remarkable in fragrant odors, which impart a delicate aroma, at the same time gradually increasing its value as a diffusive stimulant. The solid residue contains a large amount of tannin, derived from storing in oak casks, which imparts to fine old whiskey one of its valuable individual qualities. The amount of the residue proves the whiskey to be free from the excessive amount of coloring and sweetening so generally used in adulterating. In fact, in two words, it is the PUREST WHISKY.

It will not only supply a public want, now that whiskeys are so generally adulterated, but will be of the greatest value to the physician in those cases where pure whiskeys are the most useful of all medicine.

THE TAR BUCKET!

Edwin Spears Furnished With an Ulster by Unknown Friends!

He Thinks He Knows Them and Wants to Shoot!

The Traffic in Liquor and Disgraceful Orgies Between Low White Men and Indian Squaws Receive a Check.

Sunday night about 9:30 Edwin Spears, who lives in a board cabin near the crossing of the English ditch and the railroad track, had a little surprise party. About twenty men walked up to his door, around which was gathered four or five Indians of both sexes, and several white men including Spears himself, all of whom except the lord of the manor broke and ran. Three blank shots were fired after them and a chase ensued which resulted in the capture of a young mahala. One of his visitors asked Spears if he was in the habit of receiving

VISITS FROM SQUAWS, and he answered with vigor and profanity that he was and intended to continue to do so until his inclinations changed. He was asked if he ever sold or gave the Indians whiskey, and said "that is for you to prove." He manifested a remarkably well sustained spirit of bravado assuring the men that he was perfectly willing to jump down a rope if they had one. He was as cool as a cucumber and although he seemed to think that his executioners were waiting upon him gave every show of defiance and indifference. He was taken across the road near to the China garden in Forbes' field and ordered to take off his coat, vest and shirt, a request with which he readily complied. One of the leaders of the party then smeared his body

PLENTIFULLY WITH TAR from the waist to the neck, and gave him a good dab on each cheek and one on the forehead, while others sprinkled him plentifully with feathers. The squaw who had only a few moments before been one of his guests, looking on and laughing heartily. Spears was ordered to put on his duds and leave the town, but he begged to be permitted to stay until morning to clean himself up. He was granted permission, but was warned not to come into the town and to leave the country before it was dark to-night upon pain of being hung. He said hanging was just what he wanted. Spears is a stout young fellow about 27 or 28 years of age and apparently a Yankee by birth.

HE CAME TO RENO about a year ago, and after hard coaxing was given several small jobs of work by Winchel & Cunningham, who say they found him industrious and painstaking in everything he did for them. Contrary to his order, he has been in town all day to-day, and has been breathing threats against several parties whom he thinks he recognized last night, in all of whom, however, he is no doubt mistaken. He told several citizens that he knew who the parties were and he was going to them and make them give him money enough to leave the country, and then shoot them down. The chances are that Spears is a young man of good family, who in this far distant state has been unable to get such work as he is used to, and becoming discouraged has gone down as no creature but man can go, into the depths of

DEGRADATION AND INFAMY which he does not realize himself. A GAZETTE reporter interviewed several of the families living near the scene of the fracas and there seems to be no doubt but that the right man was caught. A great deal of whiskey has been given or sold to Indians in the past few months, and the guilty parties have thus far eluded the vigilance of the officers. Several ladies who live near Spear's cabin say that they have frequently seen

MAHALAS GO INTO HIS HOUSE apparently sober and come out so drunk they could hardly walk. Not long ago one such creature was carried out dead drunk, and in answer to questions one of her companions said she was her sister and that Spears gave her whiskey regularly every three or four days. They carried her off a little ways and waited until she was sober enough to stagger away with them. Although none of the neighbors have ever seen Spears in the act of giving Indians whiskey, yet they say that the orgies carried on in his den both in the night and often in broad daylight were perfectly disgraceful, and several said they did not dare go out of their doors after dark.

The Oregon Railroad. The Astoria and Winnemucca railroad has been incorporated in Oregon with a capital of $3,000,000. The incorporators are George Flavel, G. W. Hume, W. D. Hare, Col. Jas. Taylor and C. Linenweber.

Murderous Threats.

Edwin Spears, the fellow who was decorated with a coat of tar and feathers Sunday, is on the war path. He has been making threats of dire vengeance against those whom he thinks had a hand in the dressing. It is said that he insists that Captain Bragg was one of the men, and swears that he will kill him on sight. The tarry warrior is not satisfied with immolating one victim on the altar of his vengeance, he must have more. W. F. Edwards is another marked man. His blood is consecrated to wash out the indignity inflicted on Mr. Spears. Holland, the carpenter, is to be slain, and other parties are reported to be the objects of his bloody wrath. If Spears is wise he will quietly jump the town, and let the matter rest. If he has been wronged, and knows who did it, he has his recourse by law. But this thing of making threats to take the lives of responsible business men will only further incense the community against him. Intemperate language of this character is only calculated to invite another visit of his inquisitors, and a second visit would probably cause him to lose his breath—in astonishment. Whatever of wrong may have been done, threats against the lives of good citizens will not remedy, and will only excite public opinion against their author.

An Attempt to Fire the Town.

A dastardly attempt at incendiarism was made about 4 o'clock Monday. Some scoundrel tried to set fire to the Ohio house on Virginia street. The rear wall of the kitchen was fired by the agency of coal oil, but the smoke got into one of the bedrooms through an open window awaking its inmates, who gave the alarm and the fire was extinguished before it got much headway. Had the wind been blowing at the time the whole block on Virginia street, between First and Second, would have undoubtedly been burned, as all the buildings are of wood and very combustible. The fire was kindled right where the kitchen wall joins on to a high board fence that encloses the back yard. On the outside of the fence was a large rick of dry seasoned firewood. If the flames had ever been communicated to this wood, it would have burned like so much tinder. The party or parties guilty of the villainous attempt are unknown. But should they be discovered, "short shift and a long rope" would be their portion.

When It Goes Into Effect.

By reference to section 12 of article XXII of the new constitution, it will be seen that it take effect on the first day of next January at noon. This section which defines the time reads as follows: Sec. 12. This constitution shall take effect and be in force on and after the fourth day of July, eighteen hundred and seventy-nine at twelve o'clock meridian, so far as the same relates to the election of all officers, the commencement of their terms of office, and the meeting of the legislature. In all other respects, and for all other purposes, this constitution shall take effect on the first day of January, eighteen hundred and eighty, at twelve o'clock meridian. Another clause says that the changes in judiciary shall go into effect on the first Monday in January.

I. C. of R. C.

The new encampment of this order met Sunday at Odd Fellows' hall over the Congregational church. Dr. Coon was assisted by J. W. Hoy, G. Com., of Truckee, Eva V. Barnes, G. M. of C., Mrs. Kimball, G. Coun., J. R. Fallon, G. C. of H. They have 68 names on the charter. The charter will be left open for more names this evening and Friday evening. Following officers were elected yesterday: A. McKibben, E. C.; J. E. Bradshaw, E. Coun.; Miss J. Hill, S. C.; W. J. Baker, C. of H.; C. H. Hill, W. Sec.; W. H. Story, F. S.; Ida Costa, W. T.; Jennie Jones, J. C.; Jennie Hill, 1st L.; Miss Eva Barnes, M. of C.

A Street Show.

A pair of Italians with a hand organ and a cage full of parrots gave an open air exhibition Monday on Virginia street. The performance attracted a large crowd of interested spectators. The stage manager, a little man in a straw hat and a very dirty shirt, kept up a fusillade of talk, while the birds were doing their tricks. The hat was passed around as is usual in such cases.

Budweiser and Music.

Dot ludie Yarnan band was out last night, and they made the air of the still night resound with perfect catarses of melody wrung from several dozen bottles of Budweiser. The butcher and the baker, the barber and the shoemaker and a great many more were in the gang, and for strength of lung and appetite for beer they could not be excelled.

Without Irrigation.

Doc Woods, whose ranch is five miles north of Reno, has a field of ten acres on which he has a crop of spring barley, which has not been irrigated and will ripen without a drop of water. Men say it is the nicest field they knew of.

Smithy's Opinion on Tar.

Monday a GAZETTE reporter stepped into Coleman & Pechner's barber shop and found several parties busy talking about the raid of the tar brigade last night. After listening to the various opinions expressed, the reporter turned to Smithy, the sable boot and shoe artist of the establishment, and inquired what he thought of the affair. "Don't think nuthin', boss," said Smithy, as he took more blacking on his brush, "But I always notices one thing 'bout dis here tar business." "Well, what have you noticed, Smithy," asked the reporter. "I notices dat de tar bucket neber ailes a man dat keeps hisself 'spectable, and dem dat generally rubs up agin de brush is some feller dat makes a man wid loose property lyin' around, sleep 'siderable sounder when he hears dat he's goin' on a visit to his brudder in de next town."

And Smithy went on with his blacking.

Deep Soil in Nevada.

A specimen of the soil in Spanish Springs valley may be seen in the sides of the well at the station, 12 miles north of Reno, on the Surprise valley road. It is 120 feet deep and is of the same character from top to bottom—a strong clay or adobe containing many small pebbles. No rock was cut or touched. There is no wall or timber in the well. The earth stands solid and even after ten years of use. Cox's well in Warm Springs valley is 40 feet deep and does not touch rock. The soil is the same as in the other. The water bubbles up in the center of the bottom so fast that it cannot be pumped dry.

A Gentleman of Elegant Leisure.

B. F. Leete is looking for some pleasant business to occupy his spare time. He is not kept busy at present. He puts in a little time each day in superintending the gas works, supplying the Cementock with salt from his works in Central Nevada, putting in trees and crops on his ranch, seeing to his fine cattle, attending to the books of the Jones & Kinkead mine, of which he is secretary and trustee and a heavy owner, and of the Orr ditch of which he is also secretary, besides what he devotes to church and government matters, in all of which he takes a marked interest.

The Stylograph.

The stylograph is a great convenience to people who wish to save a copy of any letters they may write. It is not only convenient, but the writing is indelible. No pen or ink is necessary; no press or water used at all. Letter heads can be used with it as well as in the ordinary press. It is very nice for business men to use at their houses or for private letters.

Good Templars or Baptists.

The grasshoppers which have appeared on Kelley's ranch seem to have been hatched there, as they are very small. Water has little or no effect on them. He has tried to drown them but they swim very well, and crawl out on stalks of grass or on high ground. They will kick for five minutes if held under water. They are as big as flies now.

Congratulatory.

Julius Isaacs, of the firm of Gray & Isaacs, has tired of single blessedness, and has taken unto himself a wife. Mr. Gray, his partner, did not know who the lady was, but informed the GAZETTE that San Francisco was the scene of the concatenation. The GAZETTE wishes the new married couple many years of happiness and an "olive branch" with each year.

Death of C. A. Simmons.

Monday afternoon intelligence was received of the death of C. A. Simmons, at the residence of Mr. Negley. Deceased was apparently as well as usual this morning, but was taken with hemorrhage of the lungs between 1 and 2 o'clock, and died in about two hours. C. A. Simmons was once in business here, and was generally respected, but the love of strong drink ruined his business and wrecked his health.

A Good Kicker.

The horse attached to the butcher cart of Haller & Grippen got frightened Monday evening, through the belly band breaking, and started in to make kindling wood out of the cart. He smashed up things generally, and spilled the occupants, Mr. Haller and Geo. Kauffman, out. Mr. Haller escaped without injury, but Kauffman had his arm pretty badly hurt.

Another Accident.

A woman passenger on the lightening train was standing on the platform of the rear car shortly after the train arrived, when the engine pulled up suddenly. The shock caused her to lose her balance and she tumbled headlong over the railing to the ground. She was picked up considerably bruised but not seriously injured. She will be sore, however, for some time from the effects of the fall.

More Capital.

The Telegraph mine near Salt Lake together with the reduction works on the Jordan river, have been sold to a French company.

THE CROWN PRINCE.

Ore Found in Pyramid District Assaying Sixteen Hundred Dollars to the Ton.

A GAZETTE reporter who chanced to be at Pyramid last Sunday, while engaged in holy meditation came upon a large pile of very handsome quartz in which his critical eye at once detected a heavy charge of the precious metals. A stone wall had been laid between two wings of the heap and a pious gentleman living near the spot, who was also engaged in holy meditations, informed him that the rock to the right of the wall was selected and preserved for milling, and assayed as high as sixteen hundred dollars to the ton. He also kindly stated that the tunnel from whence this disturber of our Sunday thoughts had come was near by and might be inspected. At the entrance, happy chance, there lay a half dozen candles and a pick, which immediately became identified with our party. For 340 feet the company groped along through solid granite until an opening appeared on our right. The tunnel had cut right through about five feet thick with a beautiful clay wall on either side, and the miners had turned at right angles and followed the east wall for 120 feet, with a drift 6 feet high and 5 feet wide. The other wall disappeared at the commencement of the drift and was seen no more. The west side of the drift showed rich ore and a fine lively quartz all the way, while the other was the wall of the ledge and was as straight as the side of a house. The clay is about three feet thick, of a heavy black texture and peeled off in great flakes when pulled by the hand. The face of the drift is in ore full width, and is as handsome a lead as could be found in Ophir or Sierra Nevada. Streaks of dark colored sulphurets cross the lead at an angle of about a hundred degrees, which seems to indicate that the west wall is very fast. Altogether the Crown Prince is the finest prospect in the camp, and the inspection made raised Pyramid district in the estimation of every one who saw it immensely. Crown Prince lies next south of the Jones and Kinkead and down the hill several hundred feet. The company have given out the impression that a mill will be built this summer, and there certainly is no reason why the mine should not pay for one, and a good one, too, inside of a month, after it gets to running.

Wedding Bells.

Mrs. Isaacs and his fair bride, nee Miss Mollie Crim, arrived from San Francisco Tuesday. Mr. Isaacs as a benedict is even more bland and obliging than in the dashing days of his single blessedness. Mr. Isaacs is happy, and in his happiness does not forget his friends. Half a dozen bottles of Heidsieck, with the "compliments of Mr. and Mrs. Julius Isaacs," heightened the editorial respect and admiration for the sacred institution of matrimony. The wine lent a more rosy hue to the daily drudgery of newspaper work, and the sparkling bubbles of its effervescent froth furnished a magic heroscope to see a bright and prosperous future before the happy couple. Here's to your health, Mr. Isaacs.

Nevada Mail Routes.

Proposals will be received at the contract office of the postoffice department until 3 p. m. of July 10, 1879, for carrying the mails of the United States, upon the routes, and according to the schedule of arrival and departure specified by the department, in the state of Nevada, from October 1, 1879, to June 30, 1880. Lists of routes, with schedule of arrivals and departures, instructions to bidders, with forms of contracts and bonds, and all necessary information will be furnished upon application to the second assistant postmaster general.

Cabin Broken Open.

A search warrant was issued by Judge Bowler Tuesday, on complaint of Gus. Kauffman, authorizing a search among the effects of one William Loomis for stolen property. Kauffman and others had a cabin at the Emerald mine with a lot of provisions in it. For several days they have been in town, and when they returned Monday they found that some one had entered the cabin in their absence and taken everything of value out of it. Constable Avery took the warrant and went out to seek Loomis and the lost property.

A Mysterious Cipher.

The last rays of the setting sun were gilding the gas works as a solitary stranger was seen building a queer looking monument on the bank of the river, upon which he painted several cabalistic signs. These were supposed to mean that the 601 were to meet last night to consider the question of Spears remaining in town contrary to orders.
